

FRIDAY

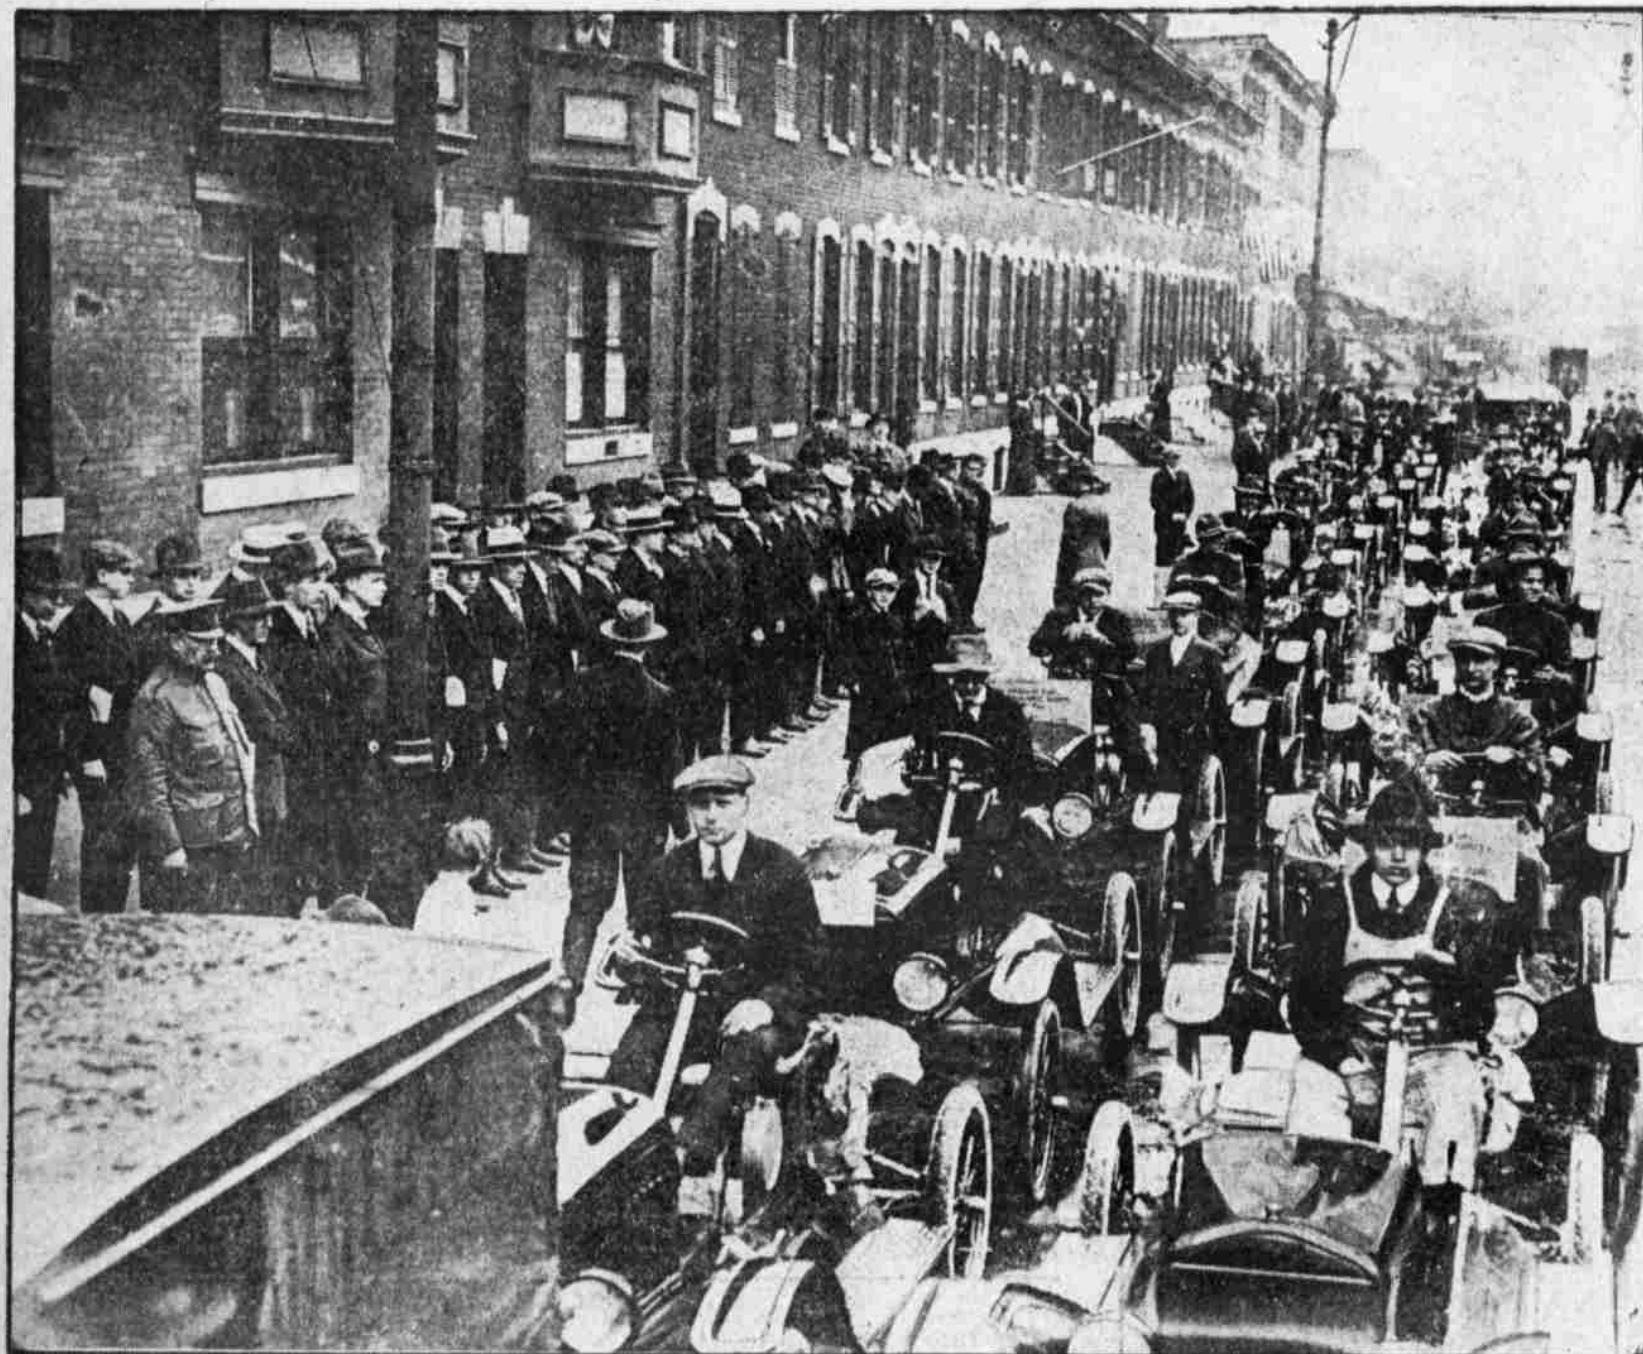

June 1, 1917

ILLUSTRATED Evening Ledger

PICTURES AND SCRAPPLE

NIGHT AND DAY AS LITTLE STUDENTS SEE THEM
Pupils of the Friends' Select School, Seventeenth street and Girard avenue, present interesting tableau on their school grounds.

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY AMBULANCE UNIT STARTS FOR THE FRONT
Leaving Cooper Battalion Hall, Twenty-third and Christian streets, today, this detachment set out for Allentown, where it will undergo mobilization prior to departure for France. Stonemen, lined up along the sidewalk, are bidding the Temple unit farewell.

PRESENTS FLAG TO DREXEL INSTITUTE
Miss Janet E. Curtis, who has been chosen to deliver to President Hollis Godfrey the emblem, which is the chief feature of the Institute Day program.

A NEW AIR COMPRESSOR RECEIVES A TRY-OUT
A demonstration of this recently perfected apparatus caused much speculation and comment about Fourth and Vine streets.

The Young Lady Across the Way

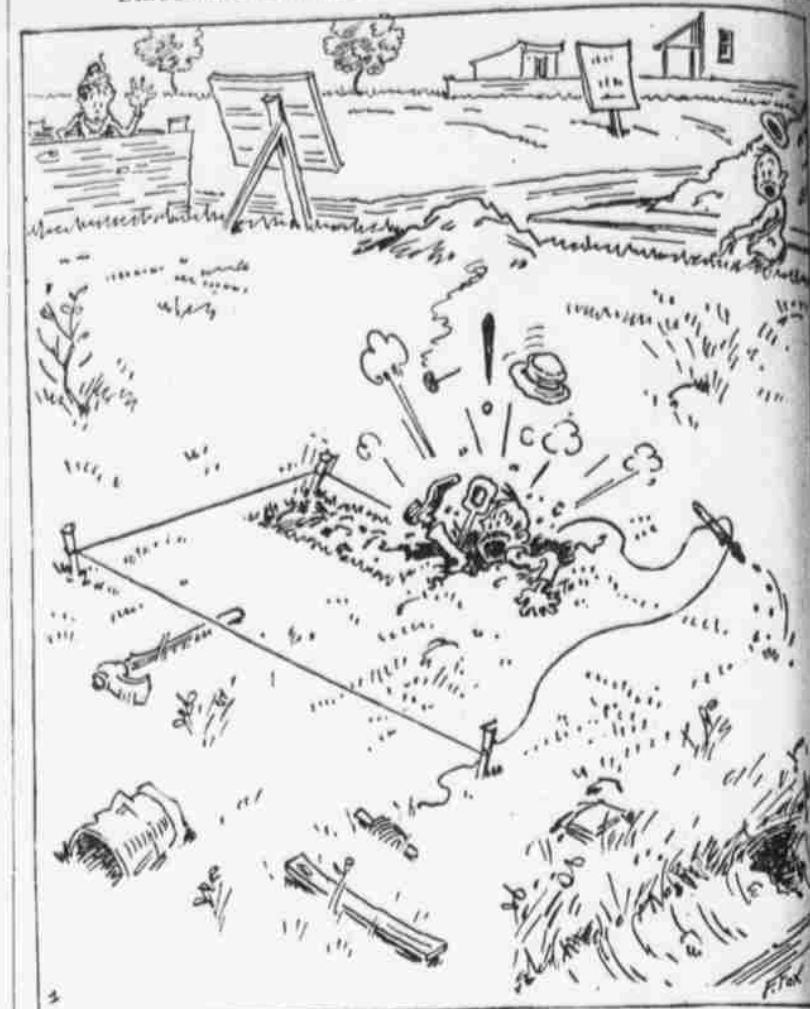

The young lady across the way says nothing is more important now than not to waste a particle of food and for her part she's making it a rule to eat everything on her plate whether she wants it or not.

Glance at the Future

The prohibition wave is making such strides, as one of our prominent metaphorsists once phrased it, that it sometimes looks as if it wouldn't be long before our reckless young men would find their choice as to means of ruination narrowed down to song, woman and furniture polish.—Ohio State Journal.

A LITTLE INCIDENT OF THE VACANT LOT GARDENING—DAD DISCOVERS THE EXACT LOCATION OF THE "PIRATES' CAVE"

—By FONTAINE FOX.

THE PADDED CELL

WIFE TELLS A JOKE

OH MEN-REE-I HEARD THE FUNNIEST STORY-MR. JONES HEARD IT AT THE CLUB AND TOLD MRS. JONES AND SHE TOLD ME - HEE-HEE-HEE - LISTEN - A MAN WAS GOING TO ENLIST AND (TEE-HEE) HE MET ANOTHER MAN - I THINK IT WAS A MAN - AND - OH IT WAS FUNNY - HE SAID - I FORGET JUST THE WORDS - BUT THE OTHER MAN SAID - (TEE-HEE) THE OTHER MAN SAID - "IS THAT SO?" - OR SOMETHING - I FORGET - BUT (TEE-HEE) IT WAS SO FUNNY I NEARLY DIED! TEE-HEE TEE-HEE!

HAYWARD

Perfectly Safe

"I say, Jack, do you think I can safely ask your cousin to marry me?"
"Sure! She told me she wouldn't marry you if there wasn't another man on earth."—Boston Evening Transcript.

So Says the College Wit

Ethelwynne—Are you dier?
Private Hoozin—No, I work for the Government.

A Suggestion

"You're perfect," said the
Then paused in tremu-
tion.
Then said the rogish:
Don't you attempt to tion?"

Cutting

They stood beneath the apple tree
And talked as lovers should.
And then to seal the compact he
Cut "Mary" on the wood.
In later days to town they strayed,
And one day chanced to meet,
Whereat that self-same haughty maid
Cut William on the street.

—Purple Cow.

You Know Her

Bill—You are well acquainted with Sadie?
Sam—Well, you see, I met her on the Roller Coaster.—Record.

There's Always Hope

The things I've sought, but never found
I trow I ne'er will find:
The poet's hero without wound,
Or poems without wind.
—Cornell Widow.

ONE REASON ANYWAY

—Harvard Lampoon.

"Do you wish an inner sole?
"Of course, my good man! Know ye not that beattitude comes from the sub-conscious self?"

SCHOOL DAYS

The public library

Another Version

The Missus—Are you going to bring home some fish for dinner to night?
The Mister—Really, my dear, I must ask you not to insult my friends in that way.—Purple Cow.

Another Hope Shattered

—The Passing Show.
Lady of Uncertain Age (discussing acquaintance)—And so dear Captain Dash told you he knew me when I was a little girl?
Tactless Major—Well, er—not exactly. He said he knew you when I was a little boy.